Pipeline delay rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate rejected Friday a proposal to delay construction of the trans-Alaska oil pipeline pending an eight-month study of an alternate Canadian route.

On a 61-29 vote, it turned down an amendment by Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Birch Bayh, D-Ind., that was offered as a substitute to a measure that would grant a right-of-way for construction of a 789-mile, $3.5-billion Alaskan pipeline.

A final vote on the pipeline bill has been scheduled for Tuesday.

Even though the Senate rejected sole dependence on a Canadian pipeline, the pending bill — virtually certain to be passed by a wide margin — calls for negotiations with Canada for a second pipeline through that country.

Mondale and Bayh contended their amendment would not delay delivery of oil from Alaska and that a Canadian pipeline would deliver it to where it was most needed, the U.S. Midwest.

The Midwest senators said construction of the Alaskan pipeline to the port of Valdez, where the oil would be shipped by tanker to refineries in California and Washington state, would leave the Midwest dependent on uncertain oil imports from the Middle East.

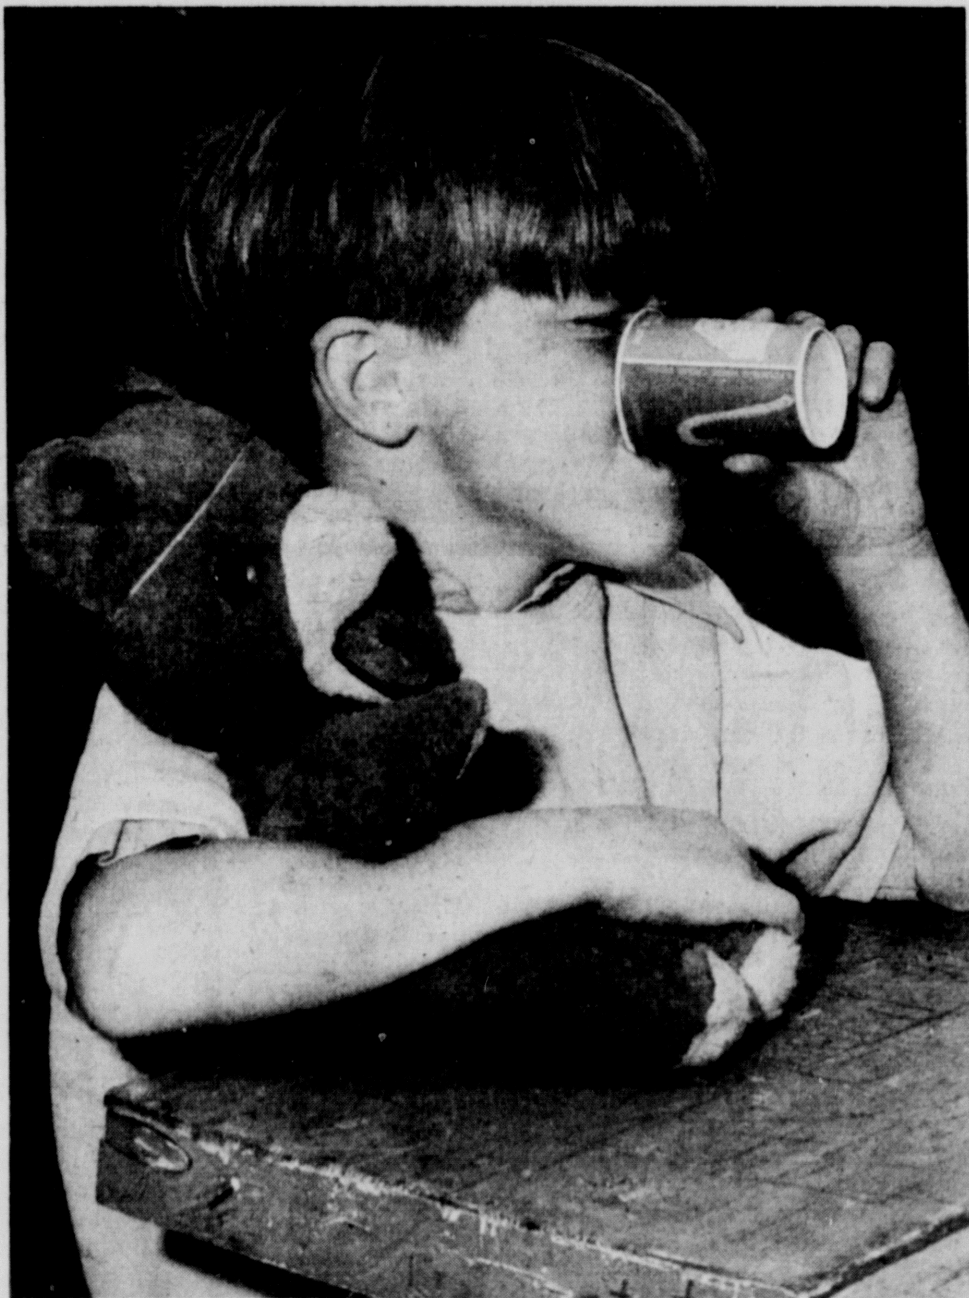

A majority of the Senate agreed with arguments by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Alaska's two senators that the proposed study would delay oil deliveries.

The pending bill would overturn court rulings that have blocked construction of the trans-Alaskan pipeline because its right-of-way would be wider than permitted under the Mineral Leasing Act of 1920.

After rejecting the Mondale-Bayh amendment, the Senate voted down an amendment by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., that also would have called for study of a Canadian route.

The Eagleton amendment, rejected 58 to 33, differed from the Mondale-Bayh amendment in that it would have granted a right-of-way to the trans-Alaska pipeline and would not have ruled out further court action on the project.

The Senate then adopted by voice vote an amendment by Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., which would speed funds to Alaskan natives from the expected revenues of the North Slope production.

B52 pullout begins in Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The pullout of America's B52 bomber fleet from Southeast Asia started Friday, just over a month before the deadline set by Congress for ending all U.S. participation in the Indochina war.

The Pentagon said current plans call for the removal of only 15 planes. But administration sources said initial withdrawals might cut in half the fleet of more than 200 B52s assigned to Southeast Asia before the Aug. 15 bombing cutoff ordered by Congress.

Defense Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said the pullout would have no impact on B52 bombing activity in Cambodia, now running at a rate of about 40 strikes a day.

Friedheim also said there would be no related reduction before Aug. 15 in the fleet of about 400 tactical fighterbombers, such as F4s and A7s, assigned to Southeast Asia. These planes are now flying more than 200 strikes a day in Cambodia.

Mafia front man testifies of bribing revenue agents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A confessed former front man for Mafia gangsters told Senate investigators Friday he once bribed Internal Revenue Service (IRS) agents and bank officials to aid in an international stolen securities racket.

Gerald M. Zelmanowitz, 36, whose government-provided false identity was destroyed a month ago, offered the names of financial firms and individuals in a tense hearing before the Senate permanent investigating subcommittee. A government witness in the 1970 convictions of reputed Mafia chieftan Angelo DeCarlo, he testified before the committee under personal immunity from prosecution.

He said he could not have funneled millions of dollars of Mafia money and stolen securities through international stock transactions without the bribes and the "ineptitude" of officials of some brokerage firms and banks.

In a 29-page statement, Zelmanowitz said he used certain IRS forms to provide legitimate cover for the stolen securities. He said the forms allowed the racketeers to avoid paying an 18 percent "Interest Equalization Tax."

The forms, which were needed to create a record of prior American ownership for some securities, were obtained from IRS agents

Moore steadfast in belief Nixon knew nothing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Presidential adviser Richard A. Moore testified Friday he believed President Nixon knew nothing about the depths of the Watergate scandal until this spring, despite persistent news reports from the beginning that suggested "something rotten" in high places.

Moore, continuing to contradict earlier testimony by John W. Dean III before the Senate Watergate Committee, testified that to his knowledge Nixon's first comprehensive report about the bugging incident at Democratic headquarters and its subsequent coverup did not come until Dean briefed the President on March 21.

Dean, fired as White House counsel April 30, told the committee two weeks ago he believed Nixon knew of the coverup as early as last September, and that he and the President had even discussed elements of the coverup strategy on March 13.

Under intensive questioning during his second day as a witness, Moore, a special counsel to Nixon now as well as during the months following the Watergate arrests, said he believed no one had gone to Nixon before then. He said he certainly hadn't, even though he was reading daily newspaper accounts from the time of the June 17, 1972, bugging incident pointing to high-level White House and campaign committee involvement.

"Didn't what you learned from the press and radio and TV in connection with these matters generate a suspicion in your mind that something was rotten at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President?" asked Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D.N.C., the Senate committee chairman.

"Yes — uh — yes," Moore replied. "Didn't you think you had a duty to go to the President to tell him you suspected something was rotten at the committee and something ought to be done about it?" Ervin demanded.

"The question was whether the offense went beyond the seven (men indicted)..." Moore replied. "The President's view, which was consistent with my view, was that it probably was an unauthorized action."

"Whether it was unauthorized or not, didn't you think someone close to the President should take some action?" Ervin shouted, wagging his finger at the white-haired, nervously smiling witness.

"Well," Moore replied, "an investigation had been made and the results were that no one in the White House was involved....there was no evidence."

Ervin asked when Moore began to suspect "something was rotten" at the campaign committee.

"It was some time in that first week (after the Watergate arrests June 17)," Moore replied.

Commission deliberates case on sheriff deputies

BY DICK PAUL

The County Civil Service Commission began deliberations Friday after testimony ended in the appeal hearing of two fired sheriff's deputies who denied charges they engaged in sexual relations with women while on duty.

Sheriff John W. Carpenter said the pair, Deputies Joseph Ristagno and Bobby Bailey were fired last March 9. The women involved, were called to give testimony, but were excused without questioning when it was shown they would plead the Fifth Amendment on all questions asked. They were not identified.

Meanwhile, rumors cropped up that the County Grand Jury might be considering action in other cases of law enforcement officers having women as passengers in police cars during patrol operations.

The Grand Jury met twice this week, but there were no disclosures that testimony of this nature was put before them. Sources at the district attorney's office said they had heard nothing of this nature.

Undersheriff Larry Marshall said that to the knowledge of himself and the sheriff, the Grand Jury was not conducting any probe into the internal affairs of the department.

"If they are, they have not made any contact with us, and I assume they would," he declared. He added that no other officers faced charges as were made against Bailey and Ristagno.

In another matter involving sheriff's deputies, the Civil Service Commission is considering whether to hold a hearing on an appeal of several sheriff's officers who failed a promotional examination.

Two inspector positions are to be filled this year, and Capt. Joel Honey, controversial officer who had been fired as result of Isla Vista riot enforcement acts and later reinstated, was among those failing the test, for inspector, it was shown. Honey was reassigned to the civil affairs division by Sheriff Carpenter after his reinstatement by the commission last year.

Two other captains and three lieutenants have criticized the promotional examinations which they failed to pass, on the grounds that there was "discrimination" and "improper" questions put to them.

Capt. Fritz Patterson, who had succeeded Capt. Honey as Isla Vista field commander in the riots, has passed his promotional examination for inspector, it was stated.

Nixon rests easier; chest pain continues

BETHESDA, Md. (UPI) — President Nixon's viral pneumonia caused him continuing chest pain Friday, but his doctors said he was resting easier and that they found no signs that the disease was spreading as he sought to fulfill essential duties from a hospital bed.

Nixon, first confined to the special presidential suite at the Navy Hospital in this Washington suburb late Thursday night, was described by one of his physicians as "moderately ill" and it was thought he would not be released for at least a week.

The doctors attending him told reporters at a news briefing that they still were unable to determine exactly what type of virus was affecting one-third to one-half of his right lung. But they said they were sure he was not suffering from "bacterial" pneumonia, which causes the lungs to fill with fluid and often proved fatal many years ago.

In the meantime, the physicians said there were no complications and that the President's left lung still appeared clear.

Through the day, Nixon received a few visitors — including his wife, who appeared somewhat upset later — and was given periodic treatment consisting of antibiotic and pain-killer pills along with therapy to help relieve any labored breathing.

Juan Peron's way cleared to regain Argentina power

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Juan D. Peron's road back to power in Argentina was cleared of its last barrier Friday when President Hector J. Campora resigned, forcing an election certain to confirm the former dictator as the new chief of state.

By submitting his "irrevocable" resignation to the congress, Campora set the stage constitutionally for Peron to move back into the Pink House presidential palace from which he administered a dictatorial regime for 10 years until the armed forces ousted him in 1955 and thereafter had blocked his return.

Campora, 64, a former dentist and protege of Peron, took office 49 days ago after leading a Peronist victory in elections that ended seven years of military rule. Peron had personally selected his longtime associate as presidential candidate, and Campora campaigned under a slogan of "Campora in government, Peron in power."

The former military junta had refused to allow Peron to be a candidate in the elections last March or even return from 18 years in exile until after Campora's government was inaugurated May 25. Peron, 77, returned to his homeland from exile in Spain June 20.

On congressional acceptance of Campora's resignation, the presidency would automatically have passed to the president of the Senate, Alejandro Diaz Bialek. But he left Thursday for an indefinite stay in Europe by previous arrangement of the government.

So the leader of the Chamber of Deputies, Raul Alberto Lastiri, takes over as provisional president and must call new elections within 30 days.

Spirit of San Clemente

Mr. James Brnham has put together what he calls "Bulletins from the Detente Front." They speak for themselves.

The policy of peaceful coexistence... is a term of intense economic, political, and ideological struggle of the proletariat against the aggressive forces of imperialism. (N. Khrushchev, 1961.)

The policy of peaceful coexistence... has never been a policy based on the acceptance of the status quo in world relations. It has been and it remains a weapon of struggle — a struggle in which both hands are used. With one hand, the aggressive forces of world imperialism are held back with the other, full support is given to the forces fighting for national independence, and to the peoples moving toward a socialist goal. (World Marxist Review, Moscos, 1965).

The main direction of the world revolutionary process is determined by the struggle between the two opposite social systems... Since it is a question of two essentially irreconcilable lines of world development, all countries, classes, social strata, and political currents become involved in the struggle... Our foreign political measures are restricting further and further and aggressive imperialist circles... They contribute to the creation of ever better international circumstances for the expansion of the struggle of the revolutionary forces the world over. (B. Ponomarev, general secretary of the Central Committee of the Soviet CP, 1971.)

Relations with the capitalist nations will remain the relations of struggle, however successful normalization and detente may be... The essential question is what form that struggle will take. (G. Arbatov, director of the Soviet Institute for American Studies, March 1973.)

DA charges market with fraud labels

Criminal charges have been filed against Von's grocery chain for fraudulent meat labeling at all three of Von's Santa Barbara area stores, according to District Attorney David Minier.

The complaint, filed in Santa Barbara municipal court, charges Von's with 11 violations of the State Health and Safety and Business and Professions Code.

The investigation of the grocery chain began in April, Minier said, when a customer of the Montecito store complained that "U.S. choice" meat was frequently mislabeled "U.S. prime." Following the complaint, a district attorney investigator purchased various cuts of meat falsely labeled "prime." The difference in price between "choice" meat and the higher quality "prime" is as much as 80 cents per pound, Minier said.

Dear Abby

Post that false fanny warning 'just before'

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote and asked you if you knew where she could buy a false fanny and you replied, "Send me your name and address and a stamped, addressed envelope and I will let you know."

Well, I wasn't the person who wrote about it, but I sent my name and address and a stamped envelope making the same request, and you told me where I could order one.

Well, it came and I want to thank you, Abby. My clothes look a lot better on me, but here is my problem: Should I tell a guy (not as soon as I meet him, but after we get to know each other better) that I have a false fanny? I don't think it's fair to wear something fake without being honest about it. I mean, one day we might get to the point where he'll find out himself.

FALSE FANNY
DEAR FALSE: Don't wait until you get to that point. Just before you think he might find out himself, give him a little warning.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are second-time-arounders. I have never seen such stability and tranquility in a marriage. There is only one problem: I am bored stiff! When we dated, he took me out to dinner and to movies, and we had a great time, but now all he thinks of is work.

I carry his dinner to his office so he can work straight thru. He eats in five minutes, thanks to me, and goes back to work. When he comes home, it's bedtime, and he is too tired for anything but sleep.

He works all weekend. We NEVER go out for dinner or to a movie anymore. He says it's too expensive, which is ridiculous because we can certainly afford it. His health is fine. (He had the company doctor examine him, that way he didn't have to pay the bill.)

I am young and pretty and full of life, but I am lonely. He says if I want to see a movie I should go without him, but it's no fun going alone.

I can just see myself ten years from now getting a divorce. Can you help me?

Court salary legislation

Proposed legislation which would give the Board of Supervisors the power to approve the salaries of the Superior Court administrator and other court attaches is being drawn up by the county counsel's office.

County Counsel George Kading was authorized to prepare Government Code amendments for presentation to the county's legislative representatives, Sen. Robert Lagomarsino and Assemblyman W. Don MacGillivray.

County supervisors gave support to a resolution of the 1973 Grand Jury which would contain the provision the salaries of the administrator and others now set by the Superior Court judges be fixed or changed only with supervisorial approval.

Supervisors earlier had expressed displeasure at the action of the judges in increasing the salary of Court Administrator Allen Abersman more than 25 per cent at a time when other court employees were averaging about 5.5 per cent pay boosts for the new fiscal year.

Later, they found themselves having to give approval to an emergency bill in Sacramento upping salaries in the marshals' and municipal court offices in Santa Barbara and Santa Maria after adopting the 1973-74 county budget.

Supervisors were told the Superior Court judges had the power of a auditor to pay the higher salaries for the court administrator and certain other court attaches.

Several years ago, the supervisors were at loggerheads with the judges over the higher pay levels set by the judges for their secretaries.

Abersman had been receiving $19,920 annually prior to the major increase. Presiding Judge Floyd C. Dodson told the supervisors that it was felt Abersman's performance warranted such an increase this year, as he had received none last year.

The grand jury resolution noted that the present Government Code allows the Superior Court to name an executive officer and set his salary, with the salary to be paid by the county without provision for approval of the Board of Supervisors.

The board voted to file a letter from the County Supervisors Assn. regarding Superior Court reporters' salaries.

The Assembly Judiciary Committee is now conducting a statewide survey of court reporters' salaries, per diems and transcription fees, the association stated, adding that it is joining with the State Bar Assn., State Judicial Council and California Taxpayers Assn. in assisting the committee study.

Santa Barbara County officials were asked to await results of the committee's study before taking further action.

excuse to isolate himself. Insist on counseling. And if he ducks that, you go alone. Your frustrations could lead to something worse than boredom.

DEAR ABBY: Over the years, my sister, who lives in another state, has been writing me letters that are filled with nothing but her illnesses, the deaths of her friends (whom I don't even know) and any gossip about the family that is bad. She even rehearses the world situation, dwelling on the doom and gloom. After reading one of her letters I am so depressed I just sit and cry. I have written to her, asking her to please quit sending me such depressing letters, but it hasn't helped.

I don't want to sever our relationship completely, but I don't know how else to deal with her. I never write depressing letters to anyone. I am a happy-go-lucky person by nature, but could spread plenty of gloom if I wanted to.

I have tried not answering her letters, but she doesn't need a letter to answer. She writes once a week regardless. Please tell me what to do.

ANOTHER DAY RUINED

DEAR RUINED: If you want to let your sister know you mean business, return her letters UNOPENED. She may be hurt and shocked, but I promise you, she'll not write many more depressing letters after that.

DEAR ABBY: A reader thought it would look "ridiculous" for a 47-year-old father to be best man at his son's wedding when the bride had selected a 21-year-old girl to be her maid of honor.

I wonder what that reader would have thought of this situation: When I was 14 years old, I was asked to be the godmother for my newborn cousin. The godfather was my 70-year-old grandfather.

'Floral Fantasy' County Fair plan

A 'Floral Fantasy', the theme of the 1973 Santa Barbara County Fair will be in full bloom when the gates open on the fairgrounds in Santa Maria Tuesday July 24 through July 29.

This year the spacious 40 acre site will host well over 70,000 visitors according to Robert M. Baker, fair secretary-manager. Baker will be assisted again this year by Al Clifford, Santa Maria High School teacher.

The first Santa Barbara County Fair was held in 1929 and has since expanded to include many new and exciting attractions.

Lompoc's Harry Phillips is in charge of the art and photography exhibits. Phillips and his crew are also responsible for transforming the grounds into a bright and colorful, 'FLORAL FANTASY'.

A new flower building, long awaited, will be used for the first time this year with Madelyn Sykes of Santa Maria and her workers organizing one of the most widely acclaimed flower shows on the central coast. Two flower shows will be presented this year, Tuesday through Thursday and Friday through Sunday.

The fair will officially open at noon Tuesday. All children under 12 will be admitted free of charge until 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday. "Fairs are for children as well as adults and we want to encourage them to use their fairgrounds," said Baker.

Under the managerial skills of Dr. Harold Case of Santa Maria, the annual horse show will display its usual elegance and grandeur. Horse show performances will be held three times daily and will include trail horses; jumpers, hunters, stock seat; English pleasure; western pleasure; and stock horse classes. With juniors and adults from throughout California participating.

Senior Citizens Day as tradition holds will be on Wednesday with all Senior Citizens admitted free. Local Senior Citizens will stage square dances, stage shows and skits in the big tent throughout the day.

Rosemary Farms will host fairgoers on Thursday with their yearly Rosemary Farms Day. Rosemary Farm ticket holders are given entrance and ride rates.

Friday is the day long awaited by 4-H and FFA'ers when their first place animals go to sale. Last year the Junior Auction made a sales record of $117,147.90 with the sales of hogs, sheep, and beef, according to Candy Lane Smith, livestock secretary.

Friday is also kids day, with kids being admitted free from 12 to 8 p.m.

Dairy Day and San Luis Obispo Day is the headliner for Saturday. Junior and senior dairy judging and Jr. Showmanship takes place on Saturday along with the Tri-County Horse Show, when juniors from Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, and Ventura counties will compete for trophies and ribbons.

Santa Ynez Valley Day is held Sunday with a vast array of attractions and exciting features. The Danish Dancers, from Solvang will perform on Sunday. The Junior Rodeo trials are held at 8 a.m. with the junior rodeo finals beginning at 1 p.m. Young cowboys and cowgirls from throughout California will compete in the cow-riding; steer-riding; calf-riding; steer-stopping; ribbon tying; team-roping; barrel racing; and goat tying events.

The destruction Derby at 7:30 and the colorful fireworks display will officially close the 1973 Santa Barbara County Fair.

'Full study' promised on plan for cityhood

Supervisor Charles F. Catterlin, whose Second District takes in a major portion of Goleta Valley, said he intends to give a "full study" to the Goleta Valley Chamber of Commerce announcement that it intends to file an incorporation proposal for Goleta Valley.

He declared he wanted to see "the final proposals on two-tier government so as to compare them" before making full comments on the proposal.

Official's cabinet robbed

SAN LUIS OBISPO (UPI) — A county official's locked cabinet, containing thousands of dollars in narcotics used in court evidence, was burglarized and $6,700 in contraband pills were stolen, the sheriff's office said Friday.

Slater who, like Catterlin is an attorney, said he could understand the "concern of the chamber to resolve the future of Goleta's government as soon as possible."

He felt that a consideration of a proposal to incorporate all of the Goleta Valley should be accompanied by alternative proposals to incorporate Isla Vista and Hope Ranch as separate communities, to annex Goleta Valley to Santa Barbara under a two-tier concept, and to incorporate the Goleta Valley under a two-tier concept.

Slater, who took over his supervisorial post in January, said he felt "all reasonable proposals for Goleta Valley's future government must be given consideration prior to making a final decision."

The Goleta chamber announcement came at almost the same time that the Isla Vista Community Council voted to form a committee to write an incorporation application to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The Goleta chamber directors' action is aimed at submitting an application to LAFCO about Oct. 15 for incorporation of all of Goleta Valley, including the university community.

Isla Vista leaders say they hope to submit an application to LAFCO between Sept. 1 and Oct. 1.

BY DICK PRAUL
Creation of small water systems from wells in Goleta Valley can only intensify present water problems in the valley, state officials have informed the Goleta County Water District.

of private wells in the Santa Ynez Community Services District recommending the wells be discontinued for domestic use.

He said the systems however do come under health department control "in that they must produce a safe, wholesome and potable water supply at all times."

The County Planning Commission has voted to delay action on development plans of the Artesia Water Co. for a water treatment facility, office and storage area in Goleta Valley.

The systems also must receive a domestic water permit from the County Health Department, he showed. He said problems of operation and maintenance could be foreseen with small systems, along with problems of quality and quantity, as it was difficult to obtain qualified people to operate such systems.

The commission was informed by Mrs. Peter Bratt, Goleta Valley member, that she was concerned about plans of the company to get water from an existing private Goleta well on property at the northeast corner of Ward Memorial Blvd. and proposed Eckwil St., south of Hollister Ave. She said in view of the Goleta water district's concern about water wells, it seems difficult to understand why no attention had previously been given to this plan before it reached the commission level.

For that reason some local control is encouraged by the state, according to Ellsworth.

Five wells have been proposed in the Goleta district since the Dec. 7 water connection moratorium. Health Department officials said two requests concern proposed professional buildings. Some builders may be able to get financing of Goleta Valley projects by showing they have a water supply from wells, it has been shown.

County health authorities recommended the Santa Ynez area wells be discontinued as an outgrowth of a departmental survey of sewage disposal facilities within the district boundaries.

"Excessive discharge of sewage wastes" into the soils of the area have been determined, it was noted.

Lon Chaney, Jr., horror man, dies

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Lon Chaney Jr., who adopted his father's name and his career as a character actor to portray such horror movie creatures as the Wolfman and Frankenstein's Monster, is dead at the age of 67.

The husky actor, who also played such sympathetic roles as the childlike "Lennie" in "Of Mice and Men," died at his home here Thursday afternoon.

He had played in lesser known films in recent years. His father, who died in 1930, was a giant of the silent screen era known as "the man of a thousand faces."

Tax slash predicted for College

The passage into law of new community college finance legislation will bring $1.1 million in increased income to Allan Hancock College and cut the tax rate 10 or 11 cents, it was disclosed yesterday.

Accident ruled in shooting

A coroner's inquest into the shooting death of William Carter, 18, of Lompoc Valley, last April 19 at a Forest Service campground along the Santa Ynez River has resulted in a verdict of accidental death.

Testimony was received from Robert H. Gilbert, of Carson, who was camping with his family at the upper river campground when Carter was fatally shot.

Gilbert maintained his shotgun was accidentally discharged during a confrontation with Carter. He declared he had called his dog out of his tent and picked up his gun when Gilbert was attempting to steal an ice chest from his campsite sometime after midnight.

Mrs. Mary Dellinger, of Oxnard, who had an adjoining campsite, testified she was aroused by the shouting of Carter and friends. She said she saw Carter attempt to attack Gilbert's son just before the shot was fired.

Two other witnesses, who said they had accompanied Carter to the campground, said the purpose was to steal food chests while the campers slept.

Sin will be subject at Baptist Church

"The Sin We Are Afraid to Mention" is the subject on which the Rev. Earl R. Berg will speak this Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service in the First Baptist Church, 220 West Cypress Ave.

The sermon's scriptural basis is Exodus 20:13 "Thou shalt not covet" Malachi 3:10, "Bring Ye all the tithe into the storehouse." In these two verses, Pastor Berg states, it will be his purpose to point out the sin of covetousness, and its cure.

For his evening sermon at 7, he has chosen the subject, "One Great Word." Music by the youth group is under direction of Margie Atwood. Young men of the church are entered in the city-wide church softball league, which began a series this week. First Baptist Church plays the Nazarene Church at 8:30 this evening at Thompson Park. No admission is charged.

Your guide to Free Beach

By STANTULLEDO

Feature Editor

If you have been coyly thinking about going to Free Beach, what you must do is simply get your courage up and say to yourself, "Alright, today is the day I'm going to do it."

Get in the car and drive out of Lompoc south on Highway 1 and onto Highway 101 toward Santa Barbara. Two or three miles past Gaviota, you'll see a clump of cars parked along the road. Pull over and find a place to park.

Get out of your car, lock it, walk over and past the railroad tracks and look for a dirt trail that leads west, to the ocean. The trail is long and a bit rocky, but not steep. It leads to a big, round rock which can easily be seen from the railroad tracks.

Go to your right when you hit the rock and immediately you're on Free Beach. This is the south or Santa Barbara side of Free Beach. Here half or more people are clothed, the rest go naked. You may want to stay on this side because it's your first time. If you have committed yourself all the way, you'll want to walk to the other, more hidden side of a small point up ahead.

This is the north half or Lompoc side of Free Beach. Just about everyone is naked on that side.

You are new at this and wish to stay on Free Beach south. Find a comfortable looking spot to lay. If you want to fit in and appear like you know what you are doing, find a place up near the side of the high, jetting cliffs like everyone else does. Lay out your beach blanket and what ever else you have brought. Finally, take off your clothes — all of them — and sit down.

Now you're at Free Beach; you've heard a lot about it. Look around. The beach is narrow and sandwiched between the Pacific Ocean and tall cliffs.

On your right you see a man and his girlfriend sun bathing in the nude. They do wear sunglasses. Further down a small group of naked people huddle around a picnic basket. Their children are also naked. Two suited 17 year old looking girls sit nearby.

On your left are two empty towels and two half empty Dr. Pepper bottles (18 oz.) stuck in the sand. Their owners, two nude men in their 20s, throw a frisbee back and forth near the water. Continuing left you see a family wearing bathing suits and T-shirts. Some members chase others into the surf. More people, naked and semi-naked, are observable past them on the sand.

Now a naked man and his topless wife walk past, each hold an arm of their naked two year old daughter. She walks between them.

Of course you look, but don't stare. Others (five or six people) have come just to stare, not to take off their clothes or sunbath or swim. That's hypocritical, but this is called Free Beach. Anyhow they're not obnoxious and they goggle discreetly.

Free Beach is peaceful. There has never been any trouble. No rowdies. The law does not come down to hassle the nude bathers; Free Beach is located in a remote area, out of sight from homes and the highway.

"If a person who goes there is offended, he should leave," says a Santa Barbara County deputy sheriff.

Why people frequent Free Beach varies. Some go there just to "scope the bods." "There is an outlet there," believes a Free Beacher.

Some people go because it's a hip thing to do. One Lompoc woman and her husband started going to Free Beach three years ago when it wasn't called Free Beach and barely 10 cars would be parked along the highway on a weekend. In the last year or so Free Beach has become in. Sundays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. is prime time.

"That's when all the cool people go — theater people, doctors, lawyers, just interesting people," she said.

She relates the Free Beach experience in a hip and mystical way:

"After you take off your clothes, there is no reason to play verbal games anymore. You start talking straight...it's not a feeling of power, but a feeling of oneness with the universe."

A local math teacher goes to Free Beach because nakedness fosters a freedom unknown in today's repressive society. For he and his wife, going nude at Free Beach "shakes off the bounds of society." They enjoy nudity in the open air; it makes them feel good. And he doesn't mind other people looking at his wife's naked body.

"It doesn't bother me, if it doesn't bother my wife. There is no big male ego trip..."

Writer Anthony West, who probably has never been to this Free Beach, once gave a rather academic reason for the meaning and enjoyment of nudity.

He wrote, "...For those who can accept the realities of their physical being and who can handle their instinctive drives without anxiety and without guilt, the naked body of a woman is a mirror of their own delight in life and confidence in it. For these people who are without fear, being naked together and enjoying each other's nakedness is sacramental, a true act of worship in which the woman is at once the priestess and the embodiment of the divine. She is still herself, still entirely a person, but she is also something solemn and majestic, beyond herself and greater than herself."

So, the next time you go to Free Beach and want to venture past the point, to the Lompoc side to join the long row of white and bronze and twisting and motionless naked bodies lying in the sun and someone asks why you are here, give one of the above reasons if you can't think of a good one yourself. But, most likely, nobody will question your presence.

"Arsenic and Old Lace", considered one of the fastest and wierdest farce-comedies ever written, will open at the Pacific Conservatory of the Performing Arts at Allan Hancock College tonight where it will play 11 times through Sept. 2.

Joseph Kesselring's comedy-hit about murder, madness and merriment, which took New York by storm to set a record of 1,444 performances in its run of three-and-a-half years, back in 1941.

An odd collection of characters make up "Arsenic and Old Lace."

One is Teddy Brewster, who spends most of his time under the impression that he's really Teddy Roosevelt and that the Panama Canal runs through the cellar of his home. Another is his brother Jonathan who is determined to retain his rightful title as America's most prolific murderer. Then there's Doctor Einstein, whose job it is to change Jonathan's face every time he has completed one of his murders.

Then there are the sweet, puttering Brewster sisters, the lovable Abby and Martha, whose lethal brew of arsenic, strychnine, cyanide and elderberry wine has never missed yet. When all these people get together on a September afternoon, in a quiet house on a quiet street in Brooklyn, the repercussions almost unhinge Mortimer, the one sane member of the Brewster family, and completely demoralize the Brooklyn police force.

Since its New York production, "Arsenic and old Lace" has become one of the top favorites all over the country, and has also enjoyed long runs in almost every major foreign city. It has proven a made-to-order vehicle for a variety of stage and screen villains, including Boris Karloff, Raymond Massey and Erich von Stroheim.

In the Conservatory's production, the sinister

Jonathan Brewster, of the three faces and twelve corpses, will be played by Gary Roberts. Merle McDill will be seen as Abby Brewster, and Elaine Dale as her sister, Martha. Mortimer will be played by Jim Corti, and Teddy by Randy Myler. In the role of the face-listing Doctor Einstein, Leslie Eberhard will be seen. The play is directed by Dr. Richard Risso, and the complex setting, which portrays one of Brooklyn's old brownstone houses, was designed by Tomy Matthys.

Director Risso is a Fulbright Scholar and director with the Oregon Shakespearean Festival. This is his second year with the Conservatory. Last year he directed "The Importance of Being Earnest" and played the title role in "Cryano De Bergerac."

Dr. Risso is from Riverside, California. He has spent more than a dozen years with the Oregon Shakespearean Festival, many of those as a director. During five seasons with the Oregon acting company, he appeared in such roles as Julius Ceasar, King Henry V, Aufidius in "Coriolanus" and Richard III. Festival audiences in Oregon also saw him in such roles as Hamlet.

He received his MFA degree from Carnegie Institute of Technology and his Ph. D. from Stanford. As a Fulbright Scholar in 1959, he studied for a year at the Conservatoire d'Art Dramatique in Paris. Dr. Risso was actor-director for two years with the Erie Playhouse and has appeared in stock at the William Penn Playhouse, the Lake Whalom Playhouse and the Red Barn Playhouse in Massachusetts.

He has directed more than ten productions at the University of California at Riverside where he is Associate Professor of Theatre. He is also Artistic Director of the North Shore Repertory Theatre at Lake Arrowhead and Artistic Director of the University Theatre at UC Riverside.

Fastest guns in Lompoc; oldest draw club in US

I shot my two brothers more than a thousand times each. They always managed to return my fire though.

Together we shot up our sisters on many unprovoked occasions, but we never took a shot at our dad. He was intolerant of such nonsense. We had no desire to plug our mother.

I recalled these episodes this week while interviewing Air Force sergeant Pat Patrick, 41½ South H Street. I wondered if I was quick on the draw in those days, what with all that shooting. I thought I probably wasn't very fast.

That's okay, Patrick indicated, neither were the real old west cowboys. In fact, they seldom had gun fights. And when they did someone usually hid behind an object like a barn or a store.

Patrick, president of the Lompoc Rawhiders, a local fast draw club, would have demonstrated a lot more courage, as well as some quick and accurate shooting, however.

"I feel if we were back in time I would be one of the fastest guns — because of the equipment we have today," said Patrick.

Old west cowboys, he explained, sported poor gear to do any impressive gun fighting. Their guns had a rough finish and the holster, made from soft leather, was carried too low.

At any fast draw contest today cowboys wear their hard leather rig (holster and belt) up around the waist. The results are some astonishing fast draws, like Patrick's .34 of a second draw.

However, if Bob Munden was back in time too, Patrick would have to smile when he talked to him. The world's fastest official single shot draw is .16 of a second, held by Munden, who incidentally appeared in Lompoc to compete in the quick draw contest held during the recent Flower Festival. Munden holds 11 other fast draw world records.

"He's outrageous," Patrick repeated several times. Although old west gun fighting began more than a century ago, fast draw clubs are relatively new. The Lompoc Rawhiders claim to be the oldest such club in the U.S. It began in 1959. Today there are 20 active members. Their sole activity is to have shoots.

Every second or third Sunday the club meets at the Twin Oaks Restaurant in Los Alamos (next meeting is this Sunday). After a practice session, the shoot out begins at noon, usually lasting until 4 p.m.

Contestants shoot for trophies. The competition is classified with men and women shooting together.

Contestants, however, don't shoot at each other. They shoot 45 blanks at balloons eight feet away on mounted stands. A red light lights up on the stand. The cowboy draws, levels his gun, pulls the trigger, and cocks the hammer, firing the weapons.

Burned and unburned power bursts the balloon on an accurate shot. And the whole sequence is measured in 100th of a second. Lowest average wins.

As kids we never took such careful and serious aim. It didn't do any good. — S.T.

PAT PATRICK, Rawhiders president.

'Hooked' olympians testify:

Drugs common in world athletics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Olympic champion Harold Connolly said Friday he was hooked for eight years on alleged muscle-building drugs and that athletics from around the world used those and other drugs regularly during international contests.

Connolly, now a track and field coach at a Santa Monica, Calif. High School, and another Olympic star, Eddie Hart, who was on the U.S. 400 meter relay team that won a Gold Medal at Munich last summer, testified before the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee which is investigating use of drugs by athletes.

"From July 10, 1972, the day after the Olympic tryouts in the hammer throw, I have not taken any drugs whatsoever, but for the eight years prior to that I would have to refer to myself as a hooked athlete," said Connolly.

Connolly said he never tried marijuana or any harder drugs but used anabolic steroids which he said did give him extra strength and weight but, if anything, they hampered his performance because retention of water in knee and arm joints hurt his "flexibility."

"I feel fortunate that the cautious doses I took did not result in the painful, debilitating side effects a number of athletes I know experienced from overdosing on sports medicine," said Connolly.

As for high school and college use of drugs, Connolly said, "A few years ago a friend of mine who threw the Javelin and was a place kicker on a leading college football team told me that every two weeks the entire team lined up, pulled down their pants and were given their shot by the doctor." He said the shots reportedly were anabolic steroids.

"Just the other day a high school football told me that one of the leading Southern California high school teams has a player that supplies amphetamines to all his teammates before every game," said Connolly.

Connolly also said, "I've known some doctors who get a kick out of administering substances to an athlete to see what they can get out of him. It's sort of a game with them."

Connolly's Olympic experience dates back to 1956 and he set world records in the hammer throw in 1960 and 1964. He was free of drugs in the 1960 event and set a mark of 231 feet, 2 1/2 inches. In 1964, under the influence of the drugs, he set a mark of 233 feet, 9 1/2 inches, "only 2 feet, 7 inches better, certainly not a significant difference."

Hart, who is now an assistant track coach at the University of California, Berkeley, said he interviewed three athletes, who he would not identify, for their experience in drug usage.

One of them operates a gym, said Hart, and "six of the nine weight lifters who were on the 1972 Olympic team worked at his gym at one instance or another and two worked there consistently. All of them used drugs."

Babe Ruth 13s

Lompoc, Nipomo, SLO, Paso in semis

Babe Ruth all stars from San Luis and Paso Robles won losers' bracket contests yesterday to stay alive in the District Southern Tourney at Pioneer Park.

Still lossless Lompoc faces also undefeated Nipomo today at 10 a.m. in a semifinals game before San Luis and Paso Robles square off in the lower bracket semis at 1 p.m.

In two tightly-played, two-hour contests yesterday, San Luis eliminated Arroyo Grande 5-4 and

AAU suspends US swimmers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The national headquarters of the Amateur Athletic Union confirmed Friday the suspension of nine United States swimmers and divers for participating in a competitive tour of China.

Marsha Smelkinson, associate publicity director of the AAU, said, however, "We didn't suspend them, they suspended themselves."

AIMING FOR THE BIG ONE is three-year-old Groshawk, one of the pre-race favorites for the $15,000 Hollywood Derby, set for Sunday at Hollywood Park. The rangy chestnut took the Will Rodgers Handicap and faces possible challengers Amen II, Carry the Banner and Sweet Medic, all former Hollywood Stakes winners.

Weiskopf's British round 71 bests Miller in stormy duel

TRÖON, Scotland (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf shot a one-underpar 71 in drenching rain to stave off U.S. Open Champion Johnny Miller's third round charge Friday and take a one stroke lead into the final round of the $125,000 British Open Golf championship.

Weiskopf lost his overnight lead to Miller when he bogeyed the first and third holes, then took six on the par four ninth. But as Miller faltered on the back nine with two bogey fives, Weiskopf holed two pressure filled 15-foot putts for birdies to end the day 10-under par with a 54-hole total of 206.

Bert Yancey, three strokes behind Weiskopf at the start, crumbled with a 73 for 211 and Jack Nicklaus played a round of 76 he will quickly want to forget to drop him nine strokes behind on 215.

Miller's 69 was the low round of the day and was matched by a couple of Britons, including Peter Oosterhuis who led the Masters after three rounds, but Miller faded on the killer back nine as the wind swept 7,064 yard Troon course began to exact its revenge.

A couple of British Ryder Cup players, Neil Coles and Brian Barnes, also thrust themselves into contention in fourth place with 213s, while young Lanny Wadkins was fifth on 214, one stroke ahead of Nicklaus and Christy O'Connor of Ireland.

IT'S CALLED MOTOCROSS and it'll happen again tomorrow in more district 35 dirt action at Spillway Park, Santa Maria, at 10 a.m. Also, tonight at 7:30, the Santa Maria Speedway will feature TT motorcycle races on a flat track with a jump, under the lights.

Dodgers keep it up:5-0 over Cubs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve Garvey cracked a three-run homer to cap a four-run third inning and the Los Angeles Dodgers went on to beat the Chicago Cubs 5-0 Friday night for their sixth win in seven games before a helmet night crowd of 49,058.

The Dodgers pinned the 100th career defeat on 1971 Cy Young Award winner on Ferguson Jenkins, now 9-7, and provided lefthander Tommy John with his ninth win against four defeats.

Pitching a five hitter, John, the man the Dodgers got from the Chicago White Sox for Dick Allen, turned in his first shutout of the season and only his third complete game in 16 starts.

Garvey drilled his second homer of the year into the leftfield pavillion off Jenkins with two out in the third. It came with Bill Buckner and Joe Ferguson on base after Willie Crawford's sacrifice fly had brought home Dave Lopes for the first run.

In the fourth, Los Angeles got its fifth run on a two out walk to Lopes and singles by Buckner and Willie Davis. In the battle of the National League's division leaders, the Dodgers turned in their 100th and 101st doubleplays of the season behind John, who walked one and had no strikeouts.

Ron Santo of the Cubs broke an 0-18 slump on an infield single off shortstop Bill Russell's glove in the seventh inning.

Detroit 8—Angels 2

DETROIT (UPI) — Frank Howard, Tony Taylor and Rich Reese homered in support of Mickey Lolich Friday night to power the Detroit Tigers to an 8-2 victory over the California Angels.

Lolich raised his record to 9-8 despite giving up five walks and seven hits, including a two-run homer to Frank Robinson. The homer was the 535th of Robinson's career, putting him in fifth place on the all-time home run list. Robinson is now one home run behind Mickey Mantle and one ahead of Jimmy Fox.

Robinson's 13th home run of the season came after two out in the seventh after Winston Llenas had singled and cut a 40 Detroit lead in half.

But Howard gave Lolich a safe working margin again in the bottom of the seventh by hitting his third home run of the season, a mammoth drive into the upper deck in leftcenter nearly 400 feet away from the plate. Howard had singled in the first inning after loser Clyde Wright, 7-12, had walked Tony Taylor and Al Kaline with one out to drive in the first Detroit run.

Taylor hit his third home run of the season in the fifth inning off Wright. Detroit picked up another run in the sixth when Aurelio Rodriguez singled and came all the way home on Ed Brinkman's dou13 to leftcenter.

A' 13 — Brews 4

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Gene Tenace cracked a grand slam homer in the five-run eighth inning and Ray Fosse drove in four runs with a two-run homer and a two-run double to give the Oakland A's a 13-4 victory Friday night over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Tenace's first game slam of his career and 15th home run of the season came in the eighth off reliever Frank Linzy and turned the game into a rout.

Ken Holtzman, seeking his first 20-win season, hurled 6 1-3 innings and allowed two runs before giving way to Horacio Pina in the seventh. The win improved Holtzman's record to 14-8 while Pina, who gave up a two-run homer to Dave May in the ninth, got his fourth save.

Starter Skip Lockwood, the first of four Brewer pitchers, took his fifth loss against four wins.

Caddas talk to kick off county game

Chester Caddas, who in his first year as head football coach at University of Pacific turned the Tigers' program around with an 8-3 record, will be the featured speaker at the Santa Barbara County All-Star Football Game Awards Banquet August 3 at the Santa Barbara Westside Boys Club.

The banquet will precede the Santa Barbara County All-Star North-South game, which is scheduled to get underway at 8:30 p.m. on August 4 at La Playa Stadium. The public is invited to the dinner, which starts at 7:30 p.m., at a cost of $4 per person and must make advanced reservations by calling the United Boys Club Office at 965-3710. Pico's Sporting goods will be the Lompoc outlet for game tickets.

The 37-year-old Caddas is a graduate of Murray State (Ky.) and was a veteran of four years on the Pacific staff before assuming the duties as head coach.

Described as fairly "down home," because of his slightly drawling accent and ever-present cigar or chew of tobacco, Caddas is immensely popular with his players.

"I try to treat the players as men," he states. "We present them with a challenge and then try to help them rise to meet it. Young people today are just as capable as any generation has been. They are more informed and aware than any group their age has ever been."

"Trying to fool today's young people would be a tremendous mistake," Caddas continues. "I try to be honest — bluntly honest — so that we always know just where we stand with one another."

Caddas is expected to field another powerful UOP team next fall and fight it out with San Diego State for the Pacific Coast Athletic Association championship.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers said Friday they had traded running back Bob Hudson to the Oakland Raiders for running back Dan Highsmith.

Hudson is a second year player from Northeastern (Okla.) State who returned 11 kickoff for 247 yards and a 22.5 average last year for the Packers.

Highsmith is a 6-foot, 200 pounder in his third year from Michigan State. He carries a 3.7 yard rushing average for three years and holds a 21.65 yard kickoff return average.

The Packers also said linebacker Rocky Wallace, who was obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals in the trade which sent quarterback Frank Patrick to the Cardinals, had failed the Packer physical. Wallace passed the Cardinal physical, so if Patrick makes the St. Louis squad, Green Bay will be compensated.

In a third move, Green Bay sold rookie free agent running back Demery Brandon to Oakland in a cash deal.

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (UPI) — Fliers in the annual Powder Puff Derby landed here Friday on the first leg of their transcontinental race.

A spokesman said all planes landed without incident after a flight from Carlsbad, Calif., where the derby originated earlier in the day following a four-hour delay caused by overcast skies.

The contestants were to spend the night in Prescott and resume the race Saturday morning, weather permitting.
